Grants & Special Projects
Office of Health Data & Research
Mississippi State Department of Health

Dr. Juanita Graham coordinates grants and special projects for the Office of Health Data and Research at the Mississippi State Department of Health. She serves in a nurse consultant role for numerous grant and research activities within the seven offices of Health Services. She teaches and develops online courses for several nursing and healthcare administration programs including health policy, healthcare finance, healthcare law & ethics, and public & community health nursing. Dr. Graham has given scores of presentations on a variety of topics ranging from logic modeling to infant mortality at the local, state, national, and international levels. Her current research interests include assessing the relationship between maternal health and Mississippi birth outcomes and health policy development towards improving outcomes for Mississippi families.

Carolyn McCoy, MPH

Senior Policy Manager
AMCHP

Ms. McCoy is a member of the AMCHP policy team, where most days, if not ever, she monitor and analyzes the Affordable Care Act and its potential impact on the maternal and child health community. Also part of her duties are convening and gathering experts in the field to discuss these issues and share knowledge with their counterparts, this session will be an extension of these activities.
